The Committee for Archaeology in Gloucestershire is a Bristol and Gloucestershire Archaeological Society committee and was formed in 1976 to act as a liaison between all the various archaeological interests in the county, such as local groups, museums, national and local authorities and individuals.

A symposium is held every year in the county. This provides an ideal opportunity for members of the public to find out about recent archaeological work in their area.

For further information about the committee's work please see the website <https://www.bgas.org.uk>
